

Deodorant Options

Puberty causes an increase in body odor and deodorant is often the solution. Explore different deodorant types to find the best fit for you.

Aerosol Deodorant

Deodorant comes out of a pressurized spray can in a fine mist sprayed onto your skin.

Roll-on Deodorant

Liquid or gel deodorant applied directly to skin through a roller-ball applicator.

Stick Deodorant

Deodorant is a solid, waxy, or creamy texture that is applied directly to skin with an applicator.

Gel Deodorant

Deodorant is a wet gel texture that is applied directly to skin with an applicator.

Cream Deodorant

Deodorant is a paste or lotion-like texture that is applied directly to skin with finger or scoop.

Hypochlorous Acid Spray

Antimicrobial skin mist (liquid texture) that gets rid of odor by killing bacteria.
